Some Modifications as to Economics and Reparation by Allies Indicated

Demand for Entry Into League, However, Will be Denied Enemy

PARIS—Such modifications of the peace treaty as may be made in response to Germany's final counter-proposals probably will be limited to the economic, reparation and territorial sections, it was learned from an authoritative source Friday.

Germany's contentions regarding a plebiscite for Upper Silesia are understood to be the subject of special consideration by the allies. There are many responsible persons, too, who admit the economic provisions are at least "pretty stiff."

The reparations plan also has been freely criticized. Many of the allied peace delegates are known to feel as the Germans declare, that the reparations clause should name a specific amount, rather than take on the nature of a blank check, although there is no disposition to agree with the enemy that the amount should be only $25,000,000,000.

WILL LOSE COLONIES

There appears to be little likelihood that Germany will be immediately admitted to the league of nations, as the counter-proposals demand. In this connection, it can be stated authoritatively that there is absolutely no chance of her ever entering the league with a mandate over her former colonies—she must consider her colonies lost irretrievably.

The Germans' refusal to give up the former kaiser, may or may not bring a renewed demand. Belgium has indicated an unwillingness to act as prosecuting witness in demanding extradition, and if Germany will not request the return of Wilhelm, no indication has been given as to what plan will be followed in this.

PARIS PAPERS BITTER

While only three copies of the counter-proposals were delivered to the allies Thursday, it was understood that 250 additional copies would be turned in Friday. The document contains about 180 pages, totalling 80,000 words. The Paris newspapers were bitter Friday in their denunciation of the German communication.

"Duplicité," declared the Echo de Paris. "Refusal to deliver the kaiser for trial, shows the solidarity of the new and old regime."

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH. HUSBAND UNDER ARREST

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—Nathan P. Johnson is under arrest Friday, pending investigation of a shooting last Thursday in which his wife was killed and three men were wounded.

Mrs. Anna Schumacher Johnson, his wife, died instantly.

The wounded men are: Wilbur Durr, shot thru abdomen; probably will die; G. W. Lacey, shot thru hip; Lloyd Lacey, shot thru hip.

The wounded men were hired by Mrs. Johnson, from whom Johnson had been separated four years, to move some goods from a furnished home owned by Johnson.

MOST OF LUXURY TAX LAWS WILL REMAIN IN FORCE

Sweeping Appeal is Halted in View of Need For Revenue

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On account of the increasing prospect of a deficit of $5,000,000,000 or more in government revenue required to meet war expenses in the next year, Republican members of the house committee on ways and means decided to halt the move to repeal all the luxury taxes in the war revenue act.

In accordance with this decision the only taxes repealed will be those on the higher priced wearing apparel and articles for personal use embraced in section 904 of the act, the bill to repeal which is now pending in the house with a favorable report from the ways and means committee. It is expected to be passed by both houses shortly.

The decision means that the taxes on soft drinks, ice cream, cosmetics, furs, and other luxuries will remain in force indefinitely. A large revenue is expected from the tax on soft drinks, particularly after the country goes back on July 1.

Reports, however, that the government is not receiving the full revenue from the tax on soft drinks and ice cream have caused the committee to undertake to devise a change in the collection process. Two proposals are under consideration. One is the imposition of a straight tax of 12 or 13 per cent on the aggregate soda fountain receipts. The other is the sale of revenue stamps of the denominations of the present taxes, which stamps would be affixed to soda fountain checks.

MAN PAST 70 IS SUED FOR STEALING AFFECTIONS OF SIXTY-YEAR-OLD WIFE

AURORA, Ill.—M. H. Snow, of Aurora, who is past 70, won the affections of Mrs. Julia Licher, 60, and thereby causing her divorced husband, John Licher, who is also more than 60, pain and anguish which it will take $10,000 to relieve, according to a suit filed by Mr. Licher in the Kane county circuit court. Licher charges alienation of affections.

Mrs. Licher divorced her husband in 1917. Snow is a wealthy farmer.

Licher alleges that Snow professed affection for Mrs. Licher and made love to her, and that "he knowingly and wickedly advised, persuaded and influenced her to separate from and abandon him."

The bill says, also, made Snow, the bill says, also, made "promise of money, fine clothes, land, affluence, and comfort," to Mrs. Licher.

License Board To Ask Court Decision

COLUMBUS.—The state liquor license commission Monday will ask Ohio supreme court to compel State Auditor Donahey to honor their vouchers. This is the latest development of the row between the commission and Attorney General Price, who ruled that the commission ceased to exist on May 27. The commission has stayed on the job.

It is expected that the supreme court will also decide whether the penal sections in the liquor license law still stand.

DEMOCRATS OPEN 1920 CAMPAIGN

Organization for Presidential Fight Effected at Chicago

CHICAGO.—The Democratic party was organized Friday for the 1920 presidential race. The league of nations and demands for reformation of Democratic war policies were prominent in "keynote" addresses before the national committee here.

Chairman Homer S. Cummings, after conferences here Friday, was to leave for a month's tour of the west. Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the president, expected to return to Washington with Attorney General Palmer, one of the "keynoters" at the closing session Thursday night. Tumulty had no public message for the committee regarding the president's future plans or expectations regarding the peace treaty.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, Attorney General Palmer and Cummings, principal speakers, attacked the Republicans as succumbing to reactionary forces, claiming the organization of congress showed progressives had been smothered.

Cummings devoted his time to the league of nations.

The committee planned to establish headquarters shortly in various parts of the west. Sessions were featured by the participation of women delegates under the leadership of Mrs. George Bass. Mrs. Bass will tour the west to organize women voters.

"FISHERS CATCH" AUTOS

CHICAGO.—Fishing in Brown's quarry was so good junk men planned to try fishing Friday. With block and tackle insurance men recovered two stolen automobiles from the depths.

MUST TAKE WIFE

CHICAGO.—Mrs. S. A. Schwartz approved her husband's sentence for speeding. He has to take her whenever he drives now.

BLUFFTON HAS $100,000 FIRE

Business Block and Contents Complete Loss—Lima Firemen Help Battle Flames—Lives Endangered

Fire totally destroyed a business block in Bluffton early this morning at a loss of $100,000. The building, a two-story structure, owned by the heirs of the Russell estate housed the A. D. Lugbill & Sons hardware store, the Thompson & Barnes grocery store, the Home telephone exchange, an empty store room formerly occupied by D. S. Burkholder, Dixie Highway grocery, and the Hotel Russell, unoccupied but fully furnished. All were complete losses.

The fire was discovered at 2:30 this morning in the rear of the Lugbill store. The Bluffton fire department started to battle the flames and at 3:45 a call for assistance was sent to Lima. No. 3 wagon was sent and at 4:30 the fire was under control. Chief Mack says lack of water pressure greatly handicapped the firemen in their fight.

From the hardware store the fire spread to the Thompson & Barnes grocery and the telephone exchange which was above it, then to the empty store room, the other grocery and the hotel.

The origin of the fire has not yet been determined.

The lives of those fighting the flames were endangered when oil cans in the rear of the hardware store started to explode and ammunition let go, scattering a volley of lead about the place. Firemen took refuge behind available shelter, but did not slacken their work.

So intense was the heat from the burning building that windows across the street were all broken.

The work of destruction was complete. Only the side walls of the structure are standing. It was impossible to get figures on the insurance carried by the various concerns and owners of the building.

FIND GIANT'S BONES

SEYMOUR, Texas.—Oil drillers claim to have bones of a pre-historic giant man, ten feet high.

TRIED 3 TIMES AS WIFE SLAYER, OHIOAN IS FREED

Walter O. Bingham Wins Verdict of Not Guilty on Suicide Plea

TIFFIN, Ohio.—Walter O. Bingham, after three trials on a charge of having murdered his wife, is free Friday.

A jury, after 24 hours of deliberation, late Friday brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The parents of Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bingham, who live on a farm in Huron county, were among the first to congratulate their son after the verdict had been brought in.

Judge William F. Duncan, Findlay, who presided at the trial, fearing a demonstration, ordered that there was to be no expression of feeling until the jury had left the court room.

As soon as the jury had left, however, there was general hand-shaking on the part of Bingham's attorneys and friends.

Bingham and his wife lived at Attica, this county.

On the morning of August 23, 1917, Bingham called to see the aged father of Mrs. Bingham, who was ill in the Bingham home.

"There's something the matter with Mary," he said. "She won't talk to me."

The father, who afterward died from cancer, went to the kitchen of the Bingham home. He found Mrs. Bingham lying on the floor. A dagger was in her heart.

The first theory and the one advanced by the defense in the last trial, was that Mrs. Bingham committed suicide.

COL. BACON DEAD

Ex-Secretary of State Died in New York

NEW YORK.—The funeral of Colonel Robert Bacon, financier, diplomat and soldier, will be held Monday at Grace Episcopal church. He died Thursday night following operation last Saturday for mastoiditis.

Colonel Bacon was secretary of state for a time under President Taft and ambassador to France from 1909 to 1912. At the beginning of the war, he was appointed to General Pershing's staff with rank of major in the quartermaster's corps. He was credited with making $300,000 a year when he retired from the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company to become assistant secretary of state under Elihu Root.

He was born in Boston in 1860. In 1876, he entered Harvard, a classmate and intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES HELD TODAY

Veterans of Three Wars Unite in Paying Tribute to Their Departed Comrades

Services Held at All Cemeteries—Mass Meeting Here This Afternoon

Soldiers of three wars united today in paying tribute to their departed comrades. The khaki-clad boys of the world's greatest war mingled with blue-uniformed heroes of '61 and '98 in what were perhaps the most impressive ceremonies the city has ever seen.

Early in the morning the work of decorating the graves was started. Other ceremonies were held at the various cemeteries and this afternoon a great mass meeting will be held for which an interesting program has been arranged.

At both of the city cemeteries graves of the departed soldiers were decorated. Outlying cemeteries were also being visited early by committees to pay honor to the soldier dead.

At Woodlawn ritualistic services were performed by the Grand Army veterans, followed by patriotic exercises by the Women's Relief Corps. Services for the unknown dead were conducted by the Women's Relief Corps. Flowers were strewn upon the graves of the departed in a city's honor to the heroes.

Reverend Father Slattery delivered the principal address at Gethsemane. Roll call of the honored dead was read following the opening of the ceremonies. Veterans of the Civil War decorated the final resting places of those of Allen county who died in the World War.

Similar ceremonies at the rural cemeteries were held.

The afternoon session will be held at Memorial Hall at 2:30. The program consists of music by the Drum Corps of the G. A. R. The invocation will be by Rev. Canby. Mrs. Harry Wilcox will render a vocal solo followed by selections by a quartette. Rev. Walter B. Cole of the Trinity Methodist church will be the speaker of the afternoon. The services will close with benediction by Rev. Huffman, Grace M. E. church.

Unprecedented kindness on the part of the weather man afforded sunshine for Memorial Day. This is directly opposite the kind he has been forcing upon Lima. A continuance of it thruout the day is promised.

Moderate heat favored the crowds attending the ceremonies of the G. A. R. at the graves of their departed, at the cemeteries in the city and county. Those of the old guard, who are fast diminishing were granted one of the most favorable days for their services that can be remembered by the oldest veteran.

$58 FOR TWO DUCKS

ST. LOUIS.—Four prominent St. Louisans unwillingly went "duck hunting" in Constable Franke's back yard at Crevecoeur. "To escape publicity," they settled for "a fair price," two ducks $58.00.

BRAZIL BROUGHT NEARER U. S. BY MOVING PICTURES

Screen Now Considered Strongest Link in Pan-American Link

RIO DE JANEIRO—The American motion picture is the strongest link in the Pan-American chain that has been welded to connect Brazil and the United States. It is no exaggeration to say that the American movie is the most potent factor in bringing to the Brazilians the American ideal. The unconscious propaganda of the screen has obtained results on every side.

Regarded from a commercial angle the American film has earned for itself a huge and complete success in this country. Within the past five years—even during the early part of the war—European films, particularly those made in Italy and France, monopolized the Brazilian market. The people of Brazil, as in the other South American countries, closer to Europe by reasons of language and customs, were unacquainted with American "moviedom."

There was considerable difficulty experienced by American film exporters in establishing their product in the Brazilian market. The obstacles were not found among the theatre patrons, but among the exhibitors. Exhibitors claimed that they were satisfied with European films, then backed up their argument with the contention that American-made motion pictures were far more costly than those made in the European countries.

Naturally, they were readily convinced of the superiority of the American film, marveled at the costly productions and the calibre of the artists. The Brazilian film dealers were brought around, one by one, and the future of the American film established.

So rapid has been the success of the American film, that European film productions here now are as rare as American pictures were five years ago. There are still a baker's dozen of French and Italian stars, who hold a small following here, but the exhibition of their pictures are rare.

Popular American motion picture players are as keenly appreciated in Brazil as they are in the United States. The beautiful women and the accomplished actors of the American screen have, proportionately, each just as large and just as enthusiastic a following as at home.

Morris Winik, local representative of a large American film importing establishment, and who takes a keen interest in the effect that his American films have on the local patrons, takes frequent strolls thru the darkened aisles of the "movie" houses. Winik claims to have developed a "movie ear," alert for screen comment.

"What they like here are pictures full of red-blooded action," said Winik. "Not necessarily too much bloodshed, but pictures with fights, in which the weapons of nature are used, are in great demand. They spotted the difference between a fist-fight in an American film and a scrap in a French or Italian film at once. They know that an American film tussle is not going to be a powder-puffs and coffee for two affair, and that when an American film actor's fist shoots out it reaches all of its objectives, and does not slip past its intended mark over the other man's shoulder. What they want is reality."

And something else that "they want," as Winik learned very rapidly, are "films with morals."

"There is a perfect spirit of frankness between the proprietor of a 'movie' theatre and his patrons here," said Winik. "A father of a family will ask the proprietor of a theatre if his production is one to which the former's daughters may be taken. And if it is not, the proprietor will tell him the truth."

The Brazilian woman regards with intense interest the doings of her North American sister, as she becomes acquainted with her on the film. The greater freedom of the sex, and the independence of the American woman is giving the Brazilian woman food for thought. In the South American countries custom, raises a high-walled protectorate for the woman, buttressed with many "don'ts." Things that are not done in Brazil by women, that would be looked upon here in the social scheme of things with disapproval; privileges, that are denied the Brazilian woman, but which comes under the head of commonplace usages in the United States, are beginning to be understood here. If the woman's club movement with the cry for emancipation comes to Brazil and gains a footing the American "movie" can honestly claim a share of the credit—or blame.

RED CROSS INVESTIGATES ALL UNAUTHORIZED SALES

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is investigating the unauthorized sale of war pictures and souvenirs of any kind by soldiers in uniform. Plans are also nearing completion for the caring of refunds of travel pay for discharged soldiers.

Invaluable aid is being rendered by the Home Service Section of the society in the matter of getting delayed and needed allotments for the families of men in service. Other information is also given those in kindred difficulties.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burcaw, of Van Wert, are guests of friends here.

OHIO ASSEMBLY STARTS RECESS

Reconvenes June 16 — Will Pass Relief Bill Over Cox's Veto

COLUMBUS — The state legislature Friday started in on its recess which will last until June 16. This date was set by leaders to give Governor Cox time to veto the cities relief bill, which will be passed over the veto when the assembly returns.

Even tho the bill is passed over Cox's veto, cities and school districts will not get relief this year. It is understood that Cox backers, who will not stand for a fracture of the Smith one per cent law, will ask for a referendum on the law. If this is done the law will be inoperative because the referendum will be taken in November election the same date that voters are to say whether or not they care to issue bonds to pay deficits.

The session ending Thursday, started last Monday. Other than passage of the relief bill, the only other measure of consequence was the passage over the veto of Governor Cox of the Buskey-Fouts highway bill. No action was taken to pass a dry bill with an emergency clause attached.

LONGWORTH PROPERTY BOUGHT BY SYNDICATE

The Ira Longworth property at North and Elizabeth streets was purchased Thursday afternoon by several business men forming a ready syndicate. They include Frank Kommink, N. L. Michael, George Metheany, and others, and they intend clearing the property, cutting it into 20 by 50 foot lots and selling it for business purposes. The consideration was $45,000. Michael and Fishel made the deal.

An interesting musical program was enjoyed at the meeting of the Homere club held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. H. Rogers. The meeting was opened by each member singing an old fashion number, and aside from this they gave some musical numbers, either piano or vocal. The rooms were adorned with baskets of Spring flowers tied with tulle. At the tea hour a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by little Elma Jane Jones.

In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. S. S. Pressie, of the Elida Road.

Miss Ella May Koller, of this city, is the guest of Miss Ruth Palmer in Van Wert.

Our Nation Bows in Reverence

MEMORIAL DAY! Day of sacred recollection! Today made more solemn by recent sacrifice.

Today we consecrate the graves of not alone the heroes of an older day, but of much of the flower of our youth of the present generation.

In other days we mourned for those who battled that a free nation might be preserved; today we lament for those who gave their all that the whole world might be liberated.

As we kept our faith with the elders, so shall we keep faith with the young. We shall shape the destiny of this nation so the fruit of their great sacrifice shall ripen—for us, and for the generations that come after.

A tear for those who nobly died that we might live in peace—sleeping today on native soil, or beyond the seas. A nation bows in reverence.

This Pretty Girl Who Defies Age Uses Howard's Buttermilk Cream to Beautify Her Complexion

Tells Enterprise Drug Store and all good drug and department stores not to take anyone's money unless this delightful new vanishing cream quickly shows a decided improvement. Try it to-day at our expense.

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, est, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet leaves no trace of the slightest stain of its use. After application, it actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least redness or greasiness of the skin. No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, nose, feet or lines around the mouth, dry, chapped lips, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms, just apply or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

Prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity to-day. Enterprise Drug Store with understanding that they will refund the purchase money to any dissatisfied user.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short massage with Buttermilk Cream at night before retiring is all that is necessary."

WAR FUND PROBE BEGUN BY G. O. P.

Counting of Expenditure of $30,000,000,000 Demanded in House

WASHINGTON. — Republican leaders in the house have started in on what the government did with the nearly $30,000,000,000 during the war. The introduction of a resolution to investigate expenditures in the war department by Representative Graham, Illinois, was the opening gun in the series, it was said by prominent Republicans yesterday.

Democrats, anticipating such a move, have placed members of record on committees which have the work to do.

Demands made on the floor of the house "for some accounting of the $30,000,000,000 turned over to President Wilson" forecast action in that direction also. The Republicans in a special committee to delve into the accounts of the food and fuel administrations and the war industries board. Committees now constituted cannot reach the three war "dollar-a-year" men probably will be brought in to tell what they know about government expenditures.

But sums absorbed thru direction of the war volunteers have attracted the attention of five or six sub-committees. It was learned there were indications too, that many members would like to know reasons for appointments of some of the volunteers. This applies also to scores of high ranking officers in the war department who, Representative Moore, Pennsylvania, asserted, are drawing more salary now than ever before in their lives.

CHEER UP, DROUGHT NOT BAD, NEW YORK IS TOLD

NEW YORK. — Governor Allen, of Kansas, Thursday advised New York and other communities to cheer up, and not be gloomy over the prospect of prohibition.

"It won't be nearly as bad as expected," he said, "I hear in New York now the same gloomy predictions I heard in Kansas 25 years ago."

"In Kansas, prohibition did not prove a blight. Business is healthier, workingmen own more homes and savings accounts have increased. We may not have been as merry there as Broadway, New York, but still there seems to have been a great deal of happiness among us. The children wear good shoes and their mothers dress better. The police are not so busy either."

ASKED TO RESIGN AS LEAGUE TEST

Missouri Solon is Challenged By Senate From Arkansas

WASHINGTON. — A challenge by Senator Robinson of Arkansas that Senator Reed of Missouri join him in resigning and seeking reelection as a test of the sentiment of their states on the league of nations covenant enlivened the opening of the administration defense of the Wilson peace plan in the senate.

The Arkansas Democrat, who had argued nearly three hours in support of the covenant, suddenly turned and confronted the Missouri Democrat, an arch opponent of the league, and referred to the latter's assertion that the league would be dominated by the "black, yellow and brown races."

"I want to say," Senator Robinson exclaimed, "that the south favors this league of nations. I am willing to resign from this body and run for re-election upon the league

THINKS GERMANS QUEER LOOKERS

Frenchman Describes For Delegates at the Peace Conference

PARIS—It's a pretty picture a French writer paints of the German peace delegation and the woman who accompany them.

This is his description: "There they were coming out from their luncheon, red-cheeked and smiling, their craniums shining pink thru their scanty, close-cropped hair, mightily pleased with themselves and with their meal, quite unconscious of their part as representatives of an aggressive and defeated country."

"They formed an ungainly crowd dressed in loose, badly cut clothes, where the glaring blues and the faded greens fought a sorry battle with red ties and yellow boots. A veritable orgy of bad taste. "As for the women. All those I met had the heavy figure, ungainly gait, and square feet of the typical Gretchen. One of them wore pale blue thick cotton stockings and flat-heeled yellow shoes. "A few have fresh complexions and light golden hair, but the hair is drawn back tightly from their foreheads, and knotted plainly under their hats, which are weighted with various queer ornaments—flowers, feathers and ribbons."

BOND IS GONE.
T. J. Hofmann, 811 south Elizabeth street has reported to police that a third issue Liberty Bond which he obtained last Saturday after making his last payment, has either been stolen or he has lost the bond. The bond was on $50 denomination. Police are on the lookout for the bond which is numbered 269,164.

Stand By Your Local Grocer He Stands By You and Stands Up For Your Town

NOTHING is gained by buying groceries from peddlers, premium stores or mail order houses.

You get better goods for the same, or less, money from your home grocer. And your grocer is part of your town. He stands for the things you stand for and gives you and others a square deal.

Take coffee, for instance. It is surely to your interest to buy your coffee from your local grocer. He knows the best brands,—you get better coffee, and you get it fresh. This means good coffee, always.

Most of the following grocers,—perhaps all of them,—are your neighbors and friends. Patronize them. It will pay you.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Tea at any pharmacy. Take a spoonful of the tea, put a cup of water upon it, pour through a filter and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. This is the most effective way to break cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion, loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF ACHING JOINTS

Joint Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Liniment Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only, not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub liniment, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Liniment" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia, Liner up! Get a 30 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

railroad, is undergoing a serious change in its appearance.

The railway station, which for years and years has stood directly in the center of the Main street, is being moved to permit traffic an unobstructed passage thru the city.

The change came about when a representative of the railroad and the government visited Harrod, and suggested the change to permit the flow of activity to pursue its natural course in a straight line.

The aged and respected depot is being carefully moved to a point somewhat east of Main street, and the thoroughfare is to be paved and improved in true city style.

Instead of arriving passengers getting off in the center of town they will now dismount a block or so east of the center of town, but will easily

WOMAN PRESIDES OVER DEMOCRATIC MEETING

CHICAGO — For the first time in the party's history, a woman presided Thursday over a session of the Democratic national committee here.

At the opening session Thursday the committee resolved itself into a conference, in which members of the Woman's Associate National Committee participated. Mrs. George Bass, Chicago, was seated as chairman.

Mrs. Bass briefly explained the committee's plan for organization among women.

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

"So you've never been matron of honor at a wedding!" cried Betty, in high good humor at her own joke. "Well, do you think, as a special favor to every one, you could manage to be?"

"Tomorrow!" interrupted Terry in a tone that sounded like a chant of victory and a hymn of praise in one.

"Tomorrow!" I gasped.

"Here, here, sister Anne; I'll disfranchise you as a sister if you spoil my work for me! It's taken me a deuce of a while to make Betty see the light. Now don't reopen the argument. It's closed."

Terry's voice was jolly and friendly, but there was the light of command in his eyes. It was Betty who explained with sweet womanliness:

"He wants to take care of me, Anne. And I'm proud to let him. I guess I've always wanted to be taken care of anyway. . . . And I never have before."

Betty whispered that last sentence so gently that I knew it was just to Terry she spoke—not to me, and I began to think I had better run off for another walk with Miss Moss. But Terry was managing things now, and he thought otherwise.

"Now, here's the plan, sister," said he. "I'm going back to the city at once to attend to a few details. Tomorrow I'll be down again with Jim and Virginia and Tony—our wedding guests. A minister, a license—and there you are. The bride has no trouble at all, not even the trousseau to buy. That'll be Virginia's job."

"Where do I come in?" I asked, divided between delight at Terry's efficient planning and the longing to do my bit toward Betty's wedding.

"You stay and keep Betty from running away and deserting me at the altar," ordered Terry.

Just then Miss Moss came back, bringing the doctor and assistant nurse to dress Betty's arm. Terry and I sat in the waiting room while that went on, and the dear lad groaned and fumed as I'm sure he never would have dreamed of doing under fire. Then another wee visit with Betty, and immediately thereafter Terry was wringing my hand on the doorsteps of Greyfriars Hall and preparing for his dash back to town.

I found myself flushing with pleasure as I went forward to take the firm, brown hand held out to me.

"Are you as brave as you are, devoted?" he asked.

"Yes, yes. Why do you ask?" I questioned nervously.

"She doesn't know! We don't want her to know, since there is no need, but the patient has only one chance in a hundred of recovering the use of her arm," said the doctor almost coldly.

Things turned black for a moment—brave, beautiful, proud Betty deprived of the use of her right arm—disabled, partly helpless—beautiful Betty paying her cruel share of the toll of war. . . . I couldn't make it seem true! And yet I felt instinctively that Dr. Lucas was a man to trust.

"We discovered an unlooked-for complication when we dressed the arm. She has only about one chance in a hundred," he said again. "And the nurse tells me that she's planning to be married tomorrow. . . . I must tell her dance that—she'll probably never be able to use her hand again."

"No, doctor, please!" I gasped.

"Let me. I'll tell—I'll tell anyone who has a right to know."

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating acids—Splendid for system.

Kidney and Bladder weakness results from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

In This Week's "Digest"

A Valuable Colored Map

—OF—

The New Germany

One of the most interesting features in the May 31st issue of The Literary Digest is a full-page colored Map showing the new Germany as it will be after the Peace Treaty is signed, and the old Germany as it was before the war. The Map clearly indicates the areas lost by the treaty, those to be awarded by plebiscite, and those to be made international territory. This map will prove invaluable as a present and future source of information and can be cut out and inserted in your encyclopedia, atlas, history, or other reference volume, where it will always be handy as a means of settling doubtful points.

There is a wide selection of authoritative, timely, and very interesting news-articles included in this week's "Digest," among which are:

A Word About the Editors of "The Digest"

The editors of most publications come into personal touch with the reading public through special articles, editorials, and so forth, in which they voice their individual views. Not so with THE LITERARY DIGEST, whose editorial policy is strictly impersonal, not a hint of the opinions of its staff on any question appearing in its column. Nevertheless the editors of THE DIGEST are a very real and powerful influence in the community, because they determine the subject matter of the magazine from week to week and its mode of presentation. Always their study is to be impartial and self-effacing, yet they leave their expert mark on everything that they handle, for they are all proved experts, each in his particular field, whether it be politics, art, science, religion, letters, or what not. They give you of their best, seeking for no acclaim, but constantly striving to present for your consideration all the news in all its bearings. Their quiet work gives THE DIGEST its acknowledged unique distinction.

TRADE INCREASES DESPITE PRICES

High Costs Not Retarding Business, Say Reserve Bank Reports

WASHINGTON—Despite "abnormally high" prices, retail trade throughout the country is assuming an "unprecedented volume," the federal reserve bank declared Thursday in its monthly digest. General manufacturing is reported as showing a decided improvement.

"Practically uniform reports from all federal reserve agents point to a summer and autumn of unusual activity," says the report, "which many indications of business prosperity, especially in agriculture and merchandise, and to some degree in manufacturing."

Some points in the report are: Retail establishments report business volume 66 per cent greater than a year ago in New York and from 25 to 50 per cent greater in Chicago. Coal operators are "optimistic for the future," due to a "large accumulation of fuel, although output is 70 per cent below that of a year ago.

The wool market is "strong" with prices in favor of the seller, and big orders have been placed with mills for yarn and finished goods. Woolen and worsted mills are going back to full time operation.

Progress towards normal is being made, especially in big manufacturing centers "where labor is fairly well employed." New England cotton textile mills have made "notable" wage advances.

Operations larger than week since 1901 were reported on the New York stock exchange for the week ending May 17.

LOCAL WOMAN TO TAKE SEED TESTING COURSE

The invasion of women into all forms of agricultural work has spread to seed testing. Miss Pansy M. Lorton, of Lima, has registered at the Ohio State University of Agriculture, Columbus, for a short course in seed analysis.

The course will be conducted by F. H. Hillman of the U. S. department of agriculture, and he is said to be one of the best posted seed experts in the country. The test will cover two days, June 11 and 12.

THIN, NERVOUS, FOLKS SHOULD TAKE BITRO- PHOSPHATE

Women Need It to Bring Pink Glow of Health to Pale Cheeks and Forestall Tail-Tale Line of Age.
Men Need It to Make Strong, Vigorous Bodies and Steady Nerves.

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks, thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that the best nerve food is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate. A five-grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal, being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit-forming drug.

Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing. Weak, tired people regain strength and vigor, thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves, sleep returns to the sleepless, confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom, dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health. Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks.

Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general debility, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

BRASS RAIL LIMP THING OF PAST; UNION SURVIVES

Regulars Cling to Old Haunts But Spirit is Changed—Bar tenders Hold Together

The Brass Rail Limp is gone, the refreshing highball and gin fliz are but memories, and the seductive and suggestive tinkle of cracked ice against thin glass is no longer heard.

Regulars are prone to accept the new order of things, and cling to the old haunts. To them the sight of a shining bar and much glassware adorning the back shelves is like a view of the old home to the distant traveler. The smel of a saloon, spilled beer, cigar smoke, steaming free lunch and all is like a breath of salt air to the mariner after months in shore.

But times have shifted, old dear. Now the saloon is but an empty shell and reminder of its former glory and popularity. Members of the old guard jauntily and briskly steep into a soft dring saloon and ask for a beer (near-beer being mutually understood to be the offering).

The old brogan goes up on the rail, the bent elbow is placed on the mahogany, and the hat tilted back carelessly on the neck, but the old pep is not there. It has been tried by hundreds at the Lima bars this week, and without avail. The third rail kick fails to work, the insipid imitation is a mockery of the original hope, and the life is gone.

However, one ray of hope lingers in the indistinct future. The Bartender's Union of Lima has not given up the fight. They are still holding the old fort, and the thirty faithful members will continue to hold forth and keep the chairs and tables dusted off in their headquarters over Tony Miller's place on the square. Rudolph Kaffitz, their secretary, stated that there was no intention of the bartenders to go on of business and that their organization would live as long as possible.

Confectionery shop proprietors say that their trade has not been affected by the change. They see but few strange faces. From 100 percent profit to 0 percent profit, the hard drinker, is too much of a dropoff and hard on the heart.

The question has been asked "What is to be done with all the beer kgs?" The manufacturing plants of the substitute article have absorbed most all the stock, and the common sight of a team of dapple greys hauling a load of kegs about the city will probably survive, alone out of all the familiar sights, which formerly cheered the imbiber, but the contents will be without authority.

WOULD CONTINUE INCREASE IN THE RATE OF TELEPHONE

WASHINGTON.—Congress, when it returns the wires, should pass a law continuing telephone rate increases granted under government control. N. C. Kingsbury, vice-president of the Bell system, told the senate interstate commerce committee Thursday.

Kingsbury was the first witness before the committee on the Kellogg resolution for return of the telephones and telegraphs.

He said if the rates go back to what they were before the government took over the lines August 1, 1918, many companies will face serious conditions and some will become bankrupt.

W. H. HAYS' MOTHER DEAD.
SULLIVAN, Ind.—Mrs. Mary Hays, 61, mother of National Republican Chairman Will H. Hays, died at her home here Wednesday night from apoplexy. Her death is attributed also to the shock caused by the death of her husband, John T. Hays, on April 10. Another son and two daughters survive.

Paint is a necessity—not a luxury

After your house needs painting, every year you wait it will require more paint and more labor to put it in good condition. And every year you wait your house is worth less. Good-paint money is good paint insurance. And it's pretty good insurance on the value of your property, too.

DEVOE The Guaranteed Lead and Zinc Paint
Fewer Gallons—Wears Longer

If your house needs painting, come in and let us tell you what it will cost you to use Devoe.

We say "Devoe" because it's absolutely pure.

That's why Devoe takes fewer gallons, wears longer—and costs less by the job or by the year. And that's why we guarantee Devoe without reserve.

IN SUSIE SMART'S DAILY MAIL

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl of twenty and have been going with a man of twenty-six for over a year and a half. A few weeks after he came home from the war we became engaged and he has been urging me to marry him ever since he was discharged. I earn a bigger salary than he does and he has almost no money, but he says if I like I can keep on working for a while and we can board with my people.

I do not like to do that, as I have always wanted a home of my own and I told him so. He says we would have to save for a home together anyway. I love him very much and if I keep putting him off I am afraid he will get tired and begin not to care. He is a man with good habits and is very attractive, so it would be easy for him to find someone else. What shall I do?

UNCERTAIN.

Do not marry now. Insist that the man work hard and not think of marriage until he is in a position to provide a home for you and let you give up working. He shows a tendency to shirk responsibility, and if you give in to him you will weaken his character further.

Do not be afraid of losing his love. If it is lasting he will stand the test of waiting, and if his love is temporary it will be better to find out before marriage. Men who waver in their affections very often turn to another woman after marriage.

You are not demanding too much. No girl should live with her or his people. She should have a home of her own and be supported by her husband.

Dear Miss Smart: We are two girls and love two boys, but they don't care for us. What could we do to attract their attention?

D B AND H E

It is useless to try to attract the attention of the boys, because in doing so you will cheapen yourself and lose their respect. Just be natural and sometime young men will take interest in you without any effort on your part.

Dear Miss Smart: I have seen in your column where you advise a married woman to discontinue work after marriage.

I am twenty-two years old, married three years ago and have a boy eighteen months old. I have found in the last two years that mine was a hasty, loveless marriage on my part, but my husband loves me and I never could find a better man if I looked for twenty years. He takes all my meanness and never says a sharp word.

I think some days I will surely go crazy. I think it a sin to deceive my husband and also a sin to resort to divorce. I would live it out all my life if I could only work. It would not be so bad then. Now I sit all day and think of my life. I could get a position as I am educated, I despise housekeeping and I could pay a maid and have some left with what I could earn.

A wife and mother must learn not to be selfish. If you go to work your husband will probably feel badly

Noah and His Big Scow Compared With Modern Arks

INTEREST in the story of Noah and the Ark will never fade, if only because it will always be a subject of vehement dispute.

And yet, in its really essential elements, the narrative is entirely credible.

Genesis describes the Ark in some detail. It was built of "gopher wood," a very tough material, and had "a window" and "a door in the side." Noah must have been an excellent naval architect, for his houseboat (stated in cubits) was 450 feet long, seventy-five feet wide, and forty-five feet in depth of hold. It had three decks.

Prof. Howard Osgood, of the Rochester Theological Seminary, has said that such a boat might easily have held pairs of all existing species of animals, the space on each deck being 32,750 square feet.

Referring for authority to Wallace's "Distribution of Animals," he states that there are 2415 species of mammals above the size of the sheep, 757 species from the sheep to the rat, and 1359 species the size of rats or less. Two of each would make 4829 animals, to which Noah was required to add seven of each of ten species of "clean" animals—a total of 4900.

The average size of all existing mammals, says Professor Osgood, is about that of the house cat.

An ocean steamer usually allows twenty square feet for each steer. Allow one-fourth of that, five square feet, for each animal of cat size, and a total of 24,500 square feet of surface is all that would be required to accommodate all the above-mentioned pairs. One deck of the Ark had 32,750 square feet, so that it alone could provide quarters for the mammals, with considerable room left over.

On the same authority, Professor Osgood states the number of species of birds at 10,037, and of reptiles 2241.

He reckons the insects at 100,000 species. These seem to be underestimates, more recent writers on natural history placing the number of species of birds at 12,500, the reptiles and batrachians at 4400, and the insects at 10,000,000.

Africa—a Post-War Problem

THE final liquidation of the war will see the great continent of Africa practically divided between France and Great Britain. True, there is the Belgian Congo (a big patch in the south-middle part); the Portuguese own considerable slices of territory, and the Gold Coast (south of Morocco) belongs to Spain. But these are minor fractions of the whole.

Germany will be shut out entirely. Her province in the southwest will become part of the Union of South Africa, which, of course, is British, and German East Africa will be annexed to northern Rhodesia. Thus the Cape-to-Cairo Railroad, which was the dream of Cecil Rhodes, will find nothing in the way of its construction, passing through British territory from one end of the continent to the other.

Africa in prehistoric times was inhabited by rude aboriginal peoples. The most primitive of them today are the negro tribes of the south-central equatorial regions, whose rulers, oddly enough, usually represent a superior racial type. Apparently this stock of tribal kings was supplied by way of the Nile, being anciently derived from the Wahuma, who were dwellers in the great desert of the Sahara.

But since very early times Africa has been continuously and progressively penetrated from the Mediterranean—the great culture focus in all ages—so that one finds today in the northern part a complex of higher races, some of which are not far from white.

Much of this penetration was accomplished by way of Egypt. The Phoenicians, the Greeks and the Romans contributed to it. Carthage was a Phoenician city. The slave trade, which for thousands of years was a highly organized branch of commerce, being mainly conducted by the Arabs, who carried their culture all through Africa. Some of the Arab slave traders organized extensive native monarchies, governing millions of subjects.

The Arabs collected their human merchandise wherever obtainable, and thus the negroes as we know them in the United States are very far from representing one people. Their forbears imported ancestors not only came from different regions, but were of different ethnic stocks. Between the highest and the lowest types there was a difference of thousands of years in mental and moral development.

Lowest of these types was the black Guinea negro of the west coast, with flat nose, thick lips, retreating forehead and kinky hair. He was not only a savage but a cannibal. The highest type was from the northeast African coast, bronze in color, with straight nose and thin lips—the women often very handsome. This race has furnished butlers, body servants and mechanics. A third, and superior, type, commonly represented by the Southern "mammy," was the Dinka negro, from the upper and middle Nile—complexion dark, shading toward gray.

Naturally, a great majority of the negroes caught and brought to the United States by slave traders were of the inferior type. Descendants of the better types are largely employed at the present time as servants in hotels and private houses.

To sum up, then, all of northern Africa today, including the great deserts and the Sudan, is occupied by superior races which have established themselves there through a process of penetration, physical and cultural. In this region there are 700,000 square miles so devoid of water as to be incapable of producing food for man or beast.

Equatorial Africa is the home of the true negroes—kinky-haired, thick-lipped, and too commonly disposed to cannibalism. Thence southward to the Cape one finds a superior race, that of the Bantu, lighter in color and far more intelligent. The Zulus are of Bantu stock.

There is much dispute among ethnologists as to the original type of man. Was he black?

The lower the human type in the racial scale, the closer to the ape—a statement reasonable enough. We find in Africa men who are more aplike than any discovered elsewhere on the earth. Does it not, then, seem likely that the first creature recognizable as human was developed in the forests of the Dark Continent?

The suggestion is undeniably plausible. But it may be wholly misleading. Anthropologists are entirely in doubt on the subject. They refuse to venture an opinion.

For all they know to the contrary, the white man and the black man merely represent two lines of descent from an original and single ancestral stem. You yourself are as competent as they to guess the truth.

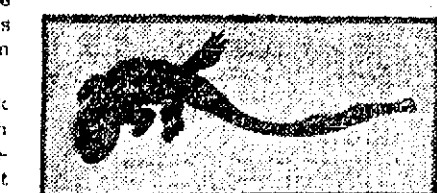

Treat the Mosquito Rough

DO YOU keep a water dog? You ought at all events to have one handy in the summer time. If there is a rain barrel near the kitchen door, a rain barrel is a first-rate kennel for a water dog.

The animal, thus bestowed, will afford protection against mosquitoes, which, as everybody knows, breed most prolifically in rain barrels.

The rate at which it gobbles mosquito larvae is surprising. One water dog will get away with the "wigglers" at a speed of 400 a day.

For, you see, the water dog is a species of newt or salamander. In the summer time, under natural conditions, it lives in shallow lakes, slow-moving streams or other quiet waters. Late fall finds it a land animal, crawling about among dead leaves and the winter it spends under a stump, in a hollow log or other such retreat.

A water dog

Ponds may be prevented from breeding mosquitoes by keeping a few water dogs in them. For the same purpose they have been used very successfully in millponds, reservoirs, water barrels on trusses and irrigation ditches.

Horse Meat Perfectly Wholesome and Plenty of It Consumed

DO YOU eat horse meat?

Probably you do, occasionally, though unaware of the fact. Horse meat is quite commonly an important ingredient of imported or domestic sausage, especially bologna.

For many years we have exported large quantities of horse meat to Europe, and much of it has doubtless come back to us in the form of sausage. However, as a philosopher once remarked, "What you don't know can't hurt you."

Indeed, meat from healthy horses could not hurt you any way. It is perfectly wholesome, and not easily distinguishable from beef. Why Moses forbade it to the Israelites nobody knows.

Considerable quantities of horse meat are marketed in our own country. In the cheapest restaurants it appears not seldom, unsuspected, in stews.

Abroad, it is called the "poor man's meat," being obtainable for half the price of beef.

The municipality of Paris maintains two abattoirs for the slaughter of horses, which supply to the local markets about 30,000,000 pounds of the meat annually. Two-thirds of the meat is made into sausage, and much of the remainder is smoked. Some Paris butchers sell nothing else.

Germany, in 1909 the latest figure obtainable, slaughtered 152,214 horses for food, the animals yielding 79,000,000 pounds of meat. Also 6890 dogs—our canine friends being not despised in that country as meat producers.

Recorded human history is very brief. One is interested to consider the fact that 100 men, each one personally acquainted with the next or earlier generation, have actually spanned with their combined lives the 7000 years that stretch back into the prehistoric.

Well, then, the horse was unquestionably domesticated long before the earliest dawn of history. But not so very long, perhaps. It was at an earlier period recognized only as a game animal—a producer of meat.

The cave-dwellers of early Europe hunted the horse just as they did the deer. If evidence of this be desired, it is furnished by the famous "horse walls" near Solutre, in southern France, which (supposed to be 100,000 years old) are built of the bones of not fewer than 40,000 horses, many of them charred by fire and broken to get at the marrow.

The Germanic tribes of northern Europe in early historic times sacrificed horses to their gods, with great feasts at which horseflesh was the piece de resistance. Pope Gregory III, seeking to promote the spread of Christianity, issued a "bull" forbidding the use of horse meat as food.

Later on, in the Holy Roman Empire (which included the territories of Germany and Austria-Hungary) cavalry horses were so badly needed that the use of horse meat as food was forbidden. The peoples of those countries were compelled to abandon the habit of eating horseflesh, and they did not go back to it until after the Franco-Prussian War.

The only worthwhile objection to the eating of horse meat is that animals slaughtered for the purpose are never young or in good condition. They are broken-down beasts and often diseased.

Wooing Balmy Sleep—and Winning It

DID you ever notice how sleepy you get sometimes at the movies? In spite of yourself (even though interested in the picture on the screen), your eyelids close, and you begin to nod. You wake up with a start, only to repeat the performance.

It is fatigue of attention that is the cause.

Exposure to wind will make you very sleepy. You must often have taken note of that. Prof. M. A. Mounsey, a member of the French Academy of Sciences, says that there is in the atmosphere a mysterious element, possibly a gas, that puts people to sleep. He calls it "somniafer."

There seems to be comparatively little of it in towns, but plenty in the air of woods and fields. Hence, he suggests, the element may reasonably be supposed to be a product of plants.

Sufferers from sleeplessness usually find quick relief if they go to the country. It is "somniafer" that helps them.

If the stuff be a product of plants, shall it be supposed that all kinds of vegetation engender it? The likelihood seems rather the other way. Pine trees are apparently quite exceptional in this respect—as one may judge from the fame of piney woods as insomnia quellers. Consider the neighborhood of Lakewood, N. J., for example. Folks go there in flocks just to sleep.

The air of piney woods, according to Professor Mounsey's theory, is laden with "somniafer." It attains such concentration there as cannot be found anywhere else.

The automobile is a great promoter of sleepiness. After a long ride in a motorcar one is likely to be drowsy. At all events, sound sleep follows on going to bed.

It is, of course, the wind that does it. But why? Because a swift and continuous current of air has bathed the body outside and inside. The "somniafer" in the air has passed through the lungs and into the bloodstream, by which it has been carried to all the tissues.

It must be a trip along country roads, however. Motoring in the city, for shopping or calling purposes, has not the same effect.

Driving in a carriage—if an open vehicle—invites sleep, especially if the day be windy. But an automobile makes its own breeze, rapid and vigorous, that blows all the time. The important point, however, is that the effect is not merely sleepiness, but the ability to sleep. Normal individuals are enabled to sleep longer and more soundly. "Insomniacs" are greatly helped, and sometimes cured.

The atmosphere is commonly described as consisting of four-fifths nitrogen and one-fifth oxygen. But it contains small quantities of a number of other gases, five of which are definitely known. Quite possibly "somniafer" is an atmospheric gas as yet unidentified by scientific research.

If this be a fact, it may some day be practicable to separate it out and use it as a harmless and beneficent drug for inducing sleep. In standardized doses, it could be reckoned upon to give as many hours of sound and peaceful slumber as might be desired, with no reaction to follow. It would be a refuge for the weary and a remedy for overfatigue.

Professor Mounsey's observations have convinced him that "somniafer," whether a gas or something else, does actually exist as an element in the atmosphere. Its specific effect seems that of soothing the sympathetic nervous system, relaxing tension.

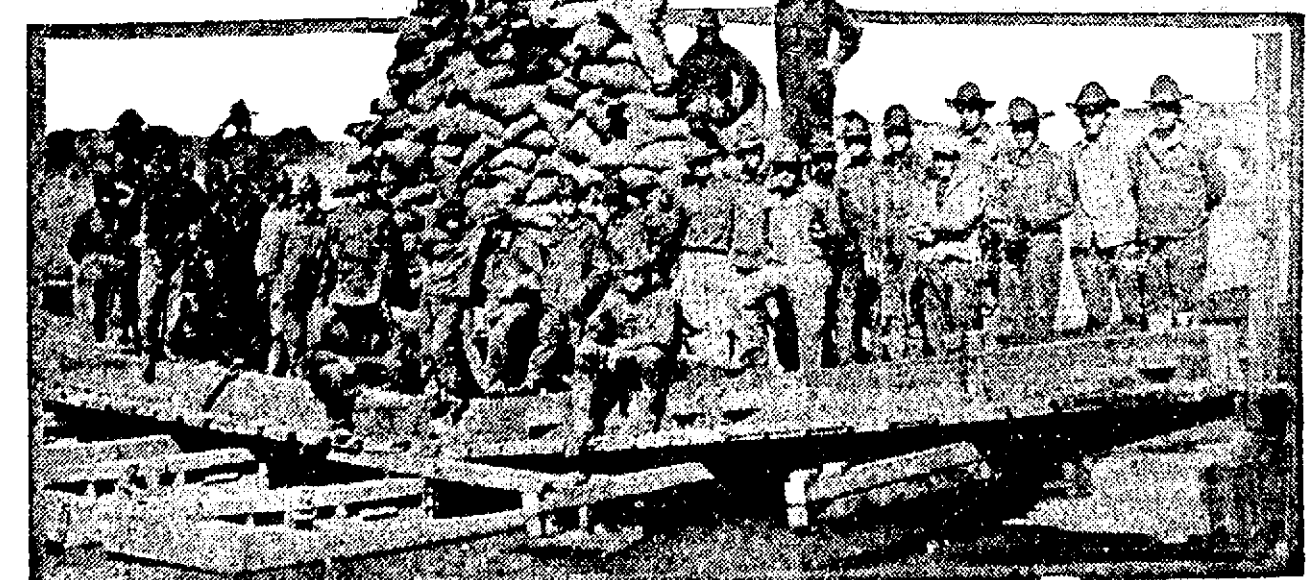

Uncle Sam's Improved Pontoon Bridges

HERE is a new and improved kind of pontoon bridge which American army engineers built across many wide rivers "over there." Its special advantages are its stability, and weight-carrying capacity. The photograph shows fourteen tons of men and gravel (the latter in sacks) loaded upon a short section of bridge.

The boats on which the bridge floats are close together (instead of being the usual fifteen feet apart); and the double floor is reinforced along its edges with timbers. The bridge has thirteen "stringers" (running lengthwise) in place of the customary five.

Over such a bridge of boats a great army may pass safely and comfortably with its heaviest artillery. It is described as able to uphold "fifteen tons to an axle."

The Beautiful Flowers of Easter

FORTY-FOUR years ago a Philadelphia woman who had been making a visit to Bermuda—the islands being little known to the average American in those days—brought back with her two plants of a wonderful and unfamiliar kind of lily. She gave them to a Quaker City florist named Harris, who lost no time in multiplying the bulbs and growing the plants in large numbers, selling them in pots.

Thus was introduced into this country what we know today as the Easter lily—a flower which had been previously cultivated for many years in Bermuda.

It was not originally native to Bermuda, however. Nobody seems to know who first planted it there. But there is no doubt of the fact that it came from the Far East. Presumably some far-voyaging mariner, whose home was in Bermuda, brought it back with him.

When we speak of the "lilies of the field"—to which Jesus referred, when He declared that they were adorned more beautifully than Solomon in all his glory—we think of this type of Easter lily. But the truth is that no such lilies were known in Palestine at the time when Christ lived.

Thus the so-called Madonna lily, supposed to have been bestowed upon the Virgin Mary by the Angel of the Annunciation, and which is a different variety, known to botanists as candidum, is a mistake of art. It appears in many of the paintings of Murillo.

Our American Easter lily of today—if so we may term it—is almost undoubtedly of Japanese origin. Its selection from other varieties, by preference, may be referred to certain notable advantages—early blooming, size and number of blossoms, and ease of "forcing" in hothouses.

Within the last few years, however, the culture of Easter lilies has been undertaken on a considerable scale in southern California and Florida. New and superior varieties have been developed under the auspices of the Government Plant Bureau; and today from those regions large supplies of bulbs are obtained. We are no longer wholly dependent (as was formerly the case) upon the importation of bulbs from Bermuda.

If Jesus never saw an Easter lily, what was the flower to which He referred? Some have thought that it must have been the lily of the valley; but it does not grow in fields. Much more likely does it seem that He meant the calla lily, which was cultivated on a large scale in Egypt (and probably in Palestine) thousands of years ago.

The Egyptians grew the calla as a food-plant. It develops, underground, fleshy tubers that somewhat resemble potatoes, though more elongated in shape. With preliminary boiling, they may be cooked for the table by frying, baking, or in any other way that potatoes are cooked.

Nowadays, in Florida, large areas are devoted to the culture of the calla for its tubers. It grows admirably in swamp-lands that are useless for other purposes, the yield of a single moist acre being enormous.

In Egypt, anciently (and presumably in the Levant), calla tubers were one of the most important food crops. They were grown over extensive areas in each annual season of the Nile's overflow. At the time of their blossoming the fields of them must have presented to the eye a beautiful picture. Realizing which fact, we may reasonably suppose that the calla was in Christ's mind when He spoke of the "lilies of the field."

THE WOMAN

The world is so full of wonderful ladies
Who smile with the radiance known of the sun;
The world is so full of remarkable
ladies
Who wield the combined power of heaven and hades
It's really absurd to go daft about one.

If Fate hands the ardent admirer a twister
And "she" throws him down with a dull, sickening thud.
He ought to forget her and go find her sister—
For sisters she has by the millions, oh! mister.
And each is as charming and pretty a bud.

Now some one has said, and there's quite a lot in it,
If one hides her heart so you really can't win it
Another will be right along in a minute—
You only lose time when you mope
and you sigh.

So be not discouraged at her farewell letter,
Cheer up, saddened swain, there is hope still for thee.
The one you went batty about when you met her
You're probably lucky that you didn't get her.
And there are more girls than the sands of the sea.

THE WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS
Four things, says the Bible old,
It cannot understand:
In the air an eagle hold,
A serpent on the land.

On the gray sea ships that make
Swift sail to capture trade,
And a man whose weak knees
quake
When smiled on by a maid.

Higher Education

LIMA HIGH SCHOOL will graduate its last class in June and among the boys and girls will be a large percentage who will have opportunity to acquire higher education in college and university. Parents who never themselves enjoyed college training too oft put it aside as unnecessary, claiming that it ruins the young for practical business or marital life. The college fool of a generation ago is perhaps still strutting about the campus, and he is on the campus like he is when he comes home, recognized and classed as a fool. But the exaggerated clothes, the loud acclaim and hallyhoo yells are but the froth; the real goods is there for all those who want it, and ninety-five per cent absorb it.

HIGHER EDUCATION is as necessary to all those who may get it as primary education has been found necessary to the state. There is no greater difference between the man who cannot read and write and the sixth grade pupil than there is between the high school graduate and the college degree holder. Education fits for the future; makes its recipient better equipped in every way; and in the end the man with the university diploma stands higher in his community, obtains greater success and is a greater asset to his country.

Will Make A Flight

OD-LINE PARTIES will make a fight against adoption of a charter for the City of Lima. In two meetings held last night committees were named and a big defense fund will be subscribed, an organization completed and a regular battle-royal staged for August.

WITH MORE THAN two months for a campaign it is to be expected that monster meetings will be announced by both sides. Central Labor Union has already forecasted an educational evening when commission-manager form and the old form will be discussed. Up to this time the public has not been aroused to the pitch that is necessary to get the punch into the game, but the last month will find it there. The best thing about the entire battle is the fact that interest will be aroused in home government and that the leaders on both sides will have the same incentive—what is best for Lima, differing only as to matter of form.

MISS LIMA: "There are only two kinds of women who can make a fool out of a man—married and unmarried."

The New Memorial Day

MEMORIAL DAY OF 1919 brings a keener realization to America's generation of today than it has since the early days following the civil war. While a new touch was added in 1899 when a few of our boys were added to those of '61-'65, it was not nation-wide. Now in every state, in every county, and in almost every village and township, there is either a new grave, in the old cemetery, or an unknown one "over there." Nearly 200,000 mothers of this era are mourning for sons who have paid the highest price that democracy might require.

IN THE LINE OF MARCH will appear new faces just as the old ones have all but vanished, making Memorial Day only a civic affair. For the next fifty years the veterans of the world-war will take the places of the veterans of the civil war, and Memorial Day thus takes on added new interest. The new Memorial Day is heart-ache day in America.

Today's Health Hints

IGNORANCE AND TUBERCULOSIS

As I seem to find particular pleasure in reminding readers, ignorance is the chief obstacle to good health. I refer, of course, to health ignorance, which is more disgraceful than common, ordinary ignorance, because it implies defiance of the scriptural injunction—know thyself. Our school system in this country is well as the colleges (excepting only the medical colleges), seem to be in a conspiracy to keep the people as ignorant as possible—from the neck down. This below-neck ignorance of college bred people stands out startlingly in many letters I receive through this column from members of college faculties.

As a killer, pulmonary tuberculosis still vies with cardiovascular degeneration, thanks to health ignorance. The TBC gets them nice and young, the CVD is rather more leisurely, taking them in hand as early as thirty but averaging twenty to thirty years at a killing. Both do thorough jobs.

TBC is the great despoiler of youth. CVD works havoc at maturity. Epidemic health—ignorance.

HERE'S CHANCE TO GET GOOD OUTING

Government Camp Offers Splendid Opportunities to High School Boys.

An exceptional opportunity for boys who want to out-door life of camp and bonfire is offered with the opening of Camp Roosevelt, a continuation of Camp Seever, which will take place July 6th, at Muskegon, Michigan.

The season includes eight weeks, and the camp will be under the supervision and care of Captain F. L. Deal, U. S. Army.

Recreation, sports, physical training, elementary military training, and a general promotion of good health, are some of the advantages of this form of vacation.

Ten camp is open to high school boys who are 15 years or over. A Scout-Craft division is also opened as a feature for boys from 12 to 14. Doctors and trained nurses will be in charge. The cost of the camp is about 1 per day.

Lima High school boys can get details from R. E. Oerthauer, principal, and county school boys can address Supt. C. A. Arganbright.

Living Heroes Are Remembered

While tribute is being paid the departed heroes today, those in the convalescent wards of hospitals in the Lake Division of the Red Cross will not be forgotten. Cards have been sent to soldiers in hospitals bearing a poem on Memorial Day by William Luehrs Graves. It follows: We may not bring you fragrant flowers today.

Nor look you in the eye, nor clasp your hand.
What you have done we never can repay,
Nor all your giving fully understand.
But this is sure—as long as memories last.
As long as lilacs bloom and skies grow blue,
America will glory in your past.
And keep a grateful heart for each of you.

CONFESSIONS of an EVERY DAY WIFE

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON

"Major Gordon told me the other day in a burst of confidence," continued Theo, "that one of the reasons he could never be more than a friend to Mrs. Charlton was because of her love of admiration."

Eliene was right, we must dismiss that cad with whom she foolishly thought as a child, she was in love, and not only get her letters back, but we must get them back without the Major knowing anything about them.

I sometimes wonder just what would happen in this world if we could keep nothing secret—if by some peculiar chance fate should write where all might read, a chronicle of our lives with all our deeds, the good, the bad and all our inmost thoughts.

Unless destiny decides to open hidden pages of the book of one's existence the sinner may seem to the world a saint.

Letty looks in her heart the episode with Robert; Eliene must close the book on her chapter with her girlhood lover. I turn down the page on my day at the Zoo. Even the best and most innocent of us have secrets that we must keep from everyone.

However hard we try for absolute intimacy our soul contact with even those we love the dearest is but the contact of exteriors.

I am to Theo the thing that he wants me to be. I am not myself but a fulfillment, more or less of his desire.

Ah, that is it, we do not give ourselves as we are or accept others as they are!

For instance, we meet each other after an absence of a day or two and we perhaps take up a web of our lives and unconsciously begin to weave in the pattern that we had

"Say, girls, you can laugh at tight shoes, or damp, corn-pulling weather, big bumpy corns, calluses on the soles of your feet, corns between the toes, hard and soft corns."

"It's All Off With This Pierce Corn New—'Gets-It' Is Magic."
If you will just touch the corn or callus with a few drops of 'Gets-It,' what a blessed relief it gives to corn pain! You won't limp any more, you can enjoy the dance every minute. Then to see how that corn or callus will come right off complete, like a banana peel and without the least pain, is just wonderful. 'Gets-It' is the biggest seller among corn removers in the world today, simply because it is so wonderfully simple and always works. Be sure you get 'Gets-It.' SOCIETY AND THE CLUBS
BY MARGARET SIMPSON

Mrs. J. D. S. Neely of south Cole street, is entertaining Mrs. Walter Lewis and Mrs. Seybold of Logansport, Indiana, for several days.

The Triumph Euchre club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. C. Graff, of west Wayne street, Wednesday afternoon. The rooms were resplendent with baskets of flowers and ferns. At the conclusion of the game, Mrs. Joe Madigan was awarded the club prize and Mrs. Mulcahy, the guest prize. At the tea hour a delicious luncheon was served.

Guests other than members were Mrs. Mary Dally, Mrs. Mulcahy, Mrs. A. H. Stolly, Mrs. P. C. Cunningham, Miss Margaret O'Neill, Miss Alice Cunningham, Miss Anna O'Connor, Mrs. Lawrence Conwell, Mrs. Warren Snyder, Mrs. M. H. Lynch, and Mrs. Frank Cassidy.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Richard Lane of east McKibben street.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Neely of Fresno, Cal., who have been the guests of Mr. Neely's mother, Mrs. J. D. S. Neely, of south Cole street, left Thursday for Crawfordsville, Ind., where they will spend several days before returning to their home in California.

NEW CALICO FROCKS ARE QUAINT INDEED

By ELOISE

With all the changes and attempts at changes during the last year, or more, the chemise dress that hangs straight to the ankles, or the half, or three-quarter long chemise tunic hung over an undershirt, persists in holding the attention of all women who love to be gracefully attired. Both of these dresses—one only an enlargement of the other—are elaborately trimmed and always an irregularity of finish and trimming marks the neck, the belt and sash and the hem.

This chemise frock has the three-quarter length tunic. It is a gay frock for the summer months and although quite modern in line it is fashioned of calico, that favored material of our grandmother's day. Novel, indeed, are its scarlet dots on the navy background. White organdie collar, cuffs and belt form a smart contrast. Many very quaint and attractive designs may be found in calico and they are almost always fashioned on simple lines with a bit of organdie for trimming. Hats of calico to match the frock are quite the thing for country wear and for the morning on the beaches or the links. When buying remember this and buy enough for a hat to match. The clever woman can make her own.

Mrs. Clay Cotterman, of west Wayne street, entertained the Trev Nov club at her home Thursday afternoon. Games, contests and music were the diversions of the afternoon. In the clever contest, Mrs. Taftinger was awarded the club prize and Miss Volma Ransbottom, the guest prize. The rooms were made attractive with baskets of spring flowers. At the tea hour a delicious luncheon was served. In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. John Cashman, of Oak street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Thomas, of west Spring street, are entertaining Mr. Thomas' uncle, Mr. Upton, of Dayton.

Mrs. Cliff Thomas, of west Spring street, is spending Thursday in Harrod.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ralston and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Westlake, motored to Indianapolis Thursday, where they expect to attend the speedway races Saturday.

THE HOUSEWIFE & HER BUSINESS

"WHERE DOES THE MONEY GO?"
HOME ACCOUNTS GIVE ANSWER

A Household Budget Would Prevent This Worry and the Empty Pocketbook. Would you like to know where that five-dollar bill that was in your purse yesterday went? Would you like to know why your last month's allowance did not hold out so you could have the new hat you wanted and really needed? Would you like to know just how much money you spend a year on food?

Of course, every housewife would like to know. Why don't you find out? "Just wondering" will never tell you facts. A business man does not "just wonder" whether his business is paying or not. His books tell him. But you say since your books would show money being spent and never money being made, you wouldn't have the satisfaction the business man realizes at the end of the year. You are dealing with much more satisfying results than the business man. You are facing daily the results of your work. The home, in its completeness or its incompleteness, its order or its disorder, its system or its lack of system, answers you, but it does not tell you whether you are getting value received for the energy and money expended. Is that important?

Are the questions pertinent that you ask yourself concerning the amount of money it costs you to live, the amount you spend on essentials, and the amount you spend on things you would be better without? If they are, then it is important and necessary that you keep account of the money spent, in order that those questions can be answered.

Accounts Must Be Accurate. Accounts are of practically no value if they are not accurate. If you are not willing to put down everything for which you spend, if you do not intend to spend a little time and thought on the subject of accounts, do not start; for, like everything else worth while, it requires energy and thought.

Keeping accounts is a peculiar type of burden. If done correctly, it lessens other burdens. In keeping accounts, if you know the question you want answered the time you spend in the daily routine is sure to be decreased.

How will you go about keeping your accounts? Not by a haphazard method nor yet one with too much detail, for either evil will make them lose their interest and value long before you can expect results.

Three Plans Suggested. Three plans of keeping accounts are commonly suggested by economists. Any one of them will work out successfully, according to home-economics specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The first has the advantage of taking little thought or time when accounts are entered, but on the other hand it does require more time on the day of reckoning at the end of the month. The second requires a little more time in the daily setting down, but is more logical and more business-like and requires much less time at the end of the month.

The first method is Date. Amount. Material. Cost. Dec. 5 ... 1 pound Prunes $0.18 Dec. 5 ... 1 can Apples $0.20 This will be easy to total at the end of the week, month or year, and thus will give total expenditures, but will not tell you at a glance in what line you should economize, or answer the question, "How much did I spend this year on clothes?" A summary may be made, however, in which each item is entered in its proper column at the end of each month or at the end of the year.

Classifying at Entry. The second method includes classification as the item is put

DR. HERR DISCHARGED FROM SERVICE AND IS BACK AT HIS HOME HERE

Captain Albert H. Herr, Medical Corps of the United States Army, has recently been discharged from the service and has resumed his practice in Lima. Dr. Herr was elected a representative to the General Assembly and took his seat in the eighty-third session of that body. At the time of his release from the service he was attached to Hospital Train No. 3, which carried wounded Yanks to convalescent hospitals in America. He also served some time aboard transports bringing back wounded soldiers from the embarkation ports of France.

"Wonderful advances have been made in the reconstruction of our men who received wounds at the hands of the enemy," he stated. "In some instances the surgical efforts were almost miraculous."

Dr. Herr spent much time in the embarkation ports and camps in the United States in addition to his trips across the water.

down, such as an ordinary account book, so that all the group headings may be across the two pages facing each other. For the following month's items, the tops of the next pages may be cut off so the heading on the first page may be used again.

Farmers' Bulletin 964, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, suggests a grouping of expenditures which is logical yet not cumbersome in its detail. After you have kept your accounts for a time you will perhaps originate some other classification which may satisfy your needs more fully. This is a suggestive outline, however, that bears study and will aid in drawing up your other plan.

I. Food: (1) Animal; (2) Fruits and Vegetables; (3) Cereal Products; (4) Other Groceries.
2. Clothing.
3. Household Furnishings.
4. Running Expenses.
5. Advancement: (1) Recreation; (2) Education; (3) Benevolences; (4) Incidentals; (5) Savings.
At the end of the month, the sum of the entries in the column headed "Cost" will show your total expenditures, and the other totals will appear in the special columns.

Cards in Third Method
The third method of keeping accounts is by means of a card system. It varies little from the methods already given, except that the headings are placed on cards instead of in a book. One card would be the heading "Food, 35 per cent, $58.30" (or whatever percentage of the income planned for in the budget). On the other cards would be "Clothing, ... per cent, ...; Household Furnishings, ... per cent, ...; Running Expenses, ... per cent, ...; Advancement, ... per cent," If a general summary for the month is desired card with all the headings containing the totals taken from the various cards. At the end of the year the month's totals could be summarized and kept for reference. The woman who keeps accounts will know after a little experience just what information she wishes and can adopt any of these methods to her own needs.

Rounding Out the Month With A Great Ready-to-Wear Sale

Decoration Day!

To the younger generation, Decoration Day has always meant reverence to the old who fought at a time far over their youthful horizon.

Tales of the valient deeds of those herces come to them through histories and to many through the lips of some of those heroes themselves whose ranks are becoming thinned as the days go by.

There is a new significance to the Decoration Day of today in the minds of the little folk.

Stories now come from the brothers, cousins—and many times from fathers—who have just returned from o'er seas.

Stories now they hear that place them, too, within range of the guns. They see through the vivid narrative the fall of dear companions in the defense of the greatest country on earth.

These boys who have so recently given their all in the throes of battle and whose bodies lie in a far off field will be sacred in our memories as we decorate the graves of those older heroes who fought great battles on the home soil.

Union Suits With Silk Tops Are Practical

There is such practicality about this sort of a garment that women have fallen quite in love with the idea.

And it so economical, too, when one realizes that the most prominent part, the top, is of silk—much less expensive, of course, than were the entire garment of that material.

Shown in bodice style with tight knees in pink at $2.25.

In regular style tops with tight, umbrella or petticoat effects in pink or white. $2.25 to $3.25.

FOURTH FLOOR

Imported Silk Pongee Makes Fine Wearables

For vacation and general summer wear, pongee takes a second place to no material in standpoint of coolness, loveliness and practicability.

Besides the many purposes to which women put this material, men are finding it to make exquisite summer shirts.

In natural shade. 33 and 34 inches wide. $1.00 to $2.00 per yard.

SECOND FLOOR

Demonstration of Greatest Home Dry Cleaner-Saturday

What a great convenience it would be to have a dry cleaning equipment right at home. Whenever a spot appears on any apparel or appointment in the home—just, presto (rub a little) and the spot is gone.

The simplicity of application of Muft, the thoroughness of removal of spots of all kinds from fabrics will be demonstrated at Bluem's all day Saturday.

Muft will not injure one's hands or fabrics—and takes spots from laces, silks, gloves, shoes, neckwear, feathers, velvets, furs, etc.

Really a wonder worker that should be in every home. See it demonstrated Saturday.

Priced at 29, 39 and 59c per bottle.

FIRST FLOOR

It Is Wise to Buy Rugs Now

It is getting extremely difficult for even the retailer to purchase rugs for his stock these days. There is a shortage and it seems to be growing worse as time goes by.

Fortunately there is a goodly supply of patterns in the standard make rugs on our fifth floor at prices that are very, very low, comparatively.

FIFTH FLOOR

Scores of Finest Spring Suits Now Reduced 33 1-3 % Off

The great, great majority of our stock of Spring suits have been assembled for this final price-crash—33 1-3% reduction.

Of course, we had previously announced that every single suit in the house had been lowered 20%—but this further reduction of 33 1-3 gives the great sale a wider swing and longer stride.

Further hesitation now would be to sacrifice the comprehensiveness of shades, styles and materials.

In materials, there are satins, Faille silks, tricotines, jerseys, silvertones, Poiret Twills, silk dovetines, tricolettes, taffetas, checks and kumsi-kumsas.

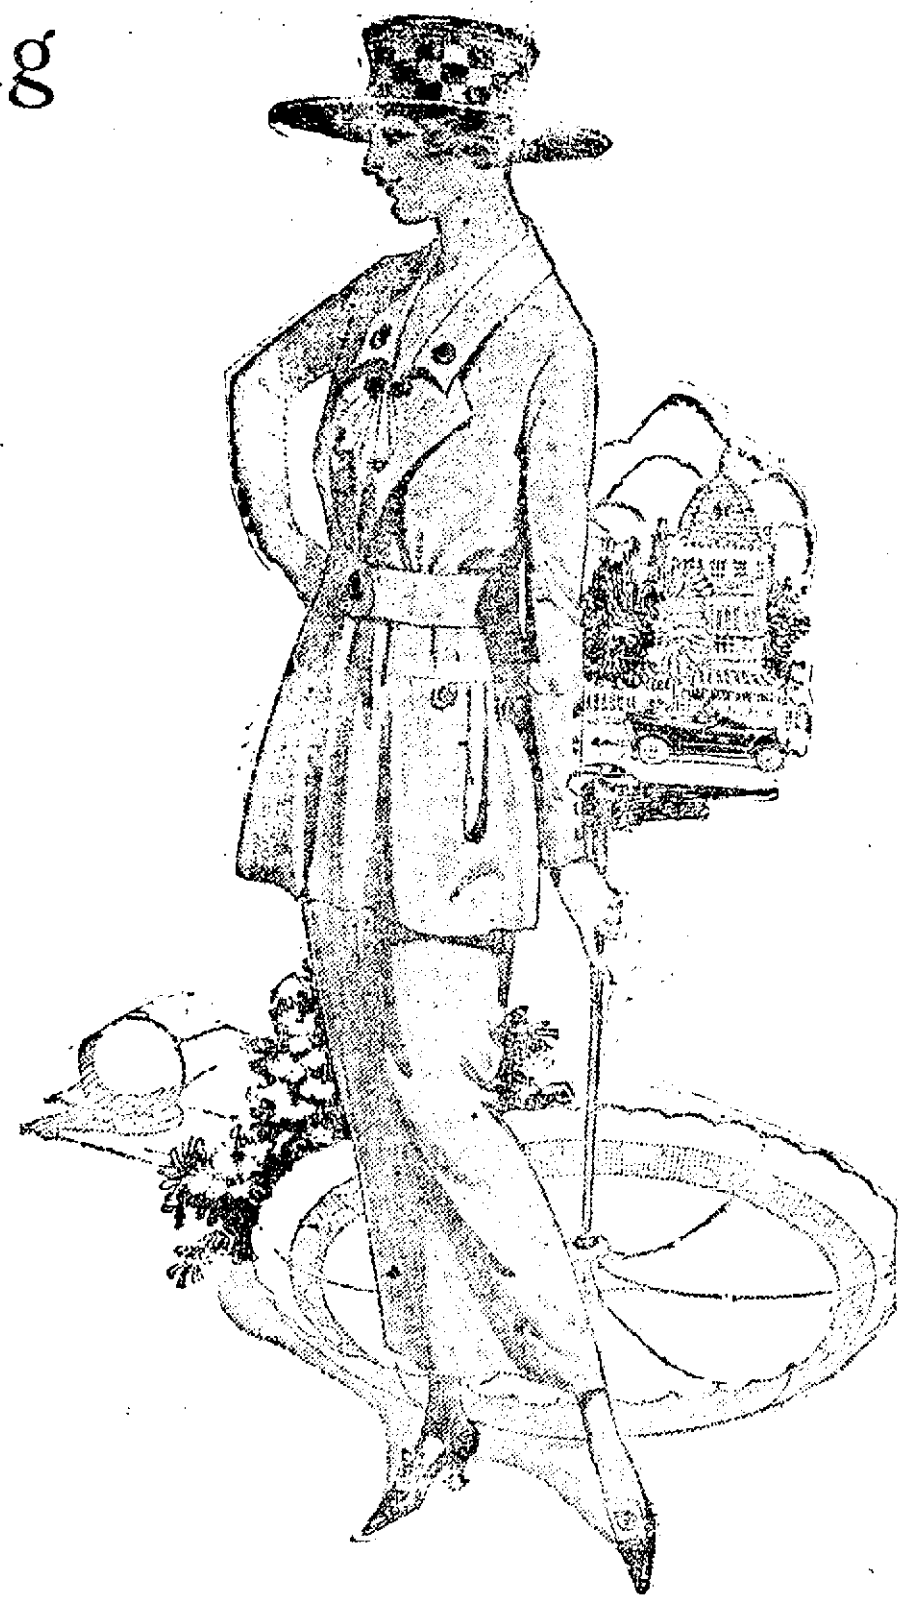

Shades of navy, black, tan, taupe, brown, copen, French blue and grey.

Great Group of Dolmans 1-3 Off

Lovely, comely things that are the embodiment of stylishness.

In tricotines, Poiret twills, tricolettes, gabardines. Moire, satins and Faille.

THIRD FLOOR

Unusual Selling of Silk Remnants

Every remnant is a bargain—if it is low enough in price and is just what one wants in length and material.

But, in this offering there is a greater meaning than "remnant" although in reality the pieces are remnants—actually sold at cost and less.

From our spring stocks, come waist, dress, skirt, combination lengths and enough for children's things. Everyone a supervalve.

SECOND FLOOR

Kerami-Chinchilla Arrives for Summer Coats and Coatees

Just the other day, we told of receiving jet black plush and Ungava Seal for Summer stoles, capes, etc.

In the same width as the above materials—52 inches—we are now showing Kerami-Chinchilla in a light mole shade that is unusually fascinating.

SECOND FLOOR

Two-Piece Dresses of Lightweight Linen

Sports things have taken a new angle.

We now see a unique and entrancing innovation in dress models that plainly shows the way of its turning—sportswear!

Lovely, cool frocks they are, of handkerchief linen and they come in two pieces.

Colors are maize, blue, pink, Nile and rose.

A Display By Girl Scouts---Troop No. 3

The Girl Scouts are fast making their presence in Lima known as an organization and have long been doing that as individuals.

Modeled in a fashion, after the form of the Boy Scouts these, girls, too, give service of the most helpful sort to those in most need. They camp, they hike, they sew, they cook, they do everything else that is conducive to good womanhood and a better world.

In an Elizabeth Street window there is on display an American flag made by the hands of Troop 3—the Dogwood aggregation, as they are named. Mrs. Robt. H. Negley is captain and Miss Martha Andrews, lieutenant.

The flag is 5 by 8 in. size and represents the fulfillment of one of the requirements in their "2nd Class" tests. It will be first flown when the troop goes into camp, June 16, at Buettner's Grove near Scott's Crossing.

Spiral Crepe Does Not Wrinkle

A silk and wool fabric for separate skirts and suits that is extremely light for Summer wear and will not wrinkle.

Comes in tan, taupe and navy. 42 inches wide.

SECOND FLOOR

SPORT SNAP : SHOTS :

This story came up from the camp of the Red Sox in the south. You can take it or leave it:

Babe Ruth has the general ways of the Stone Age Man. He is strong on muscle and individual initiative and determination. So Joe Bush, sizing him up gave him the name of "Tarzan." When the Babe wanted to know what "Tarzan" meant, Bush explained to him that the original bearer of that name was a mighty hunter, a hero many times over and generally some pumpkins as an all around he-bear.

Ruth was satisfied, and all went well until the film picture of "Tarzan" struck the town where the Red Sox were playing one day and Babe saw the posters in front of the local movie theatre. One had "Tarzan," minus most of his clothes, hanging from the limb of a tree and grinning amiably at a big gorilla. Ruth began to get not back of his ears, but held his temper in check until he could get a squint at the show. For he figured, maybe, the picture was just a fake.

But when he saw "Tarzan" in the first scene of that famous thriller, "Tarzan of the Apes," Ruth didn't wait for the second act, but hot-footed it out to the ball park, grabbed a bat and started for Bush. Joe saw him coming, however, and at the end of a half hour's chase was clean out of sight. Ruth finally calmed down, but no member of the team has had the temerity to call him "Tarzan" since. However, it's more than likely the fans in rival cities will remind him of the incident quite frequently this summer.

Manager McGraw is determined to keep Outfielder Lee King, who was obtained from the Pirates at the waiver price. It is understood that the Giants' leader already has refused several offers for King and will not include him in a trade.

McGraw watched King's work last year with unusual interest and reached the conclusion that the latter, with proper handling, could be developed into a great player. When the Pirates asked for waivers on King, therefore, McGraw quickly put in the necessary claim.

Dempsey Fared Better Than Willard Against Opponents Both Have Met

By N. E. BROWN.

The showing Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard have made against the four men both have met furnishes some mighty interesting dope, although it does not necessarily throw any light on the merits of the two men.

Both men have tackled Charley Miller, Gunboat Smith, Arthur Pelkey and Carl Morris.

Dempsey stopped every one of the four inside of the limit.

Willard did not drop one of them before the final gong.

Pelkey boxed a ten-round bout with Willard. It was a rank affair, according to New York fans.

Dempsey stopped Pelkey in less than a round at Denver.

Willard and Smith fought twenty rounds in San Francisco. Fans conceded that Smith had the best of the affair. Willard didn't.

Smith met Dempsey twice. The last time, in California, Dempsey dropped the Gunboat in the fourth. The next time, at Buffalo, Smith lasted two rounds. He hit the floor nine times before he fell asleep.

After Willard fought a four-round draw with Charley Miller in California, Dempsey shipped the haymaker over on Charley in the first center.

Willard's work against Morris in the ten-round affair was unsatisfactory to New Yorkers. Dempsey won over Carl on a foul in the sixth round. The next time out Morris walked into one the first time out of his corner.

SPEEDWAY RACES RUN TOMORROW

INDIANAPOLIS.—The start of the International 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes race on the Indianapolis motor Speedway, May 31st, has been changed to 11 a. m. instead of 10 a. m., as originally announced, to give an hour more time in handling the enormous attendance that is expected, which, judging from the advance seat sale, will run close to 100,000, if not exceed this mark.

Spectators are urged to start for the track as early as possible, in order to reduce the congestion at the gates, and insure the presence of every one in time to witness the flying start of the contest, one of the most spectacular events in human experience, with thirty-three cars racing toward the starting line in close packed formation at ninety miles an hour speed.

Preceding the flying start there will be a parade of the flags of the Big Four among the allied nations in front of the grand stands, together with the flag of Belgium, here nation of the great war. Massed bands from various cities throughout the middle west, totaling 325 musicians, will escort the flag parade.

In addition there will be the usual preliminary testing of cars with respect to safety by the pre representatives of the American Automobile Association, such as the brake test, in which every entrant is required to demonstrate that he can stop his car within a given number of feet, and the examination of various vital parts, such as front axle, wheel spindles and steering connections. There will be plenty to keep the crowd amused and occupied until the actual start of the event, and every one who can is requested to get out as early as possible, in order to prevent the disappointment of those whose business affairs may detain them and perhaps cause them to miss the start of the race, if there is any congestion at the gates and along the roads leading to the grounds.

Time: May 31st.
Place: Indianapolis Motor Speedway.
Start: 11 a. m.
Distances: 500 miles.
Prizes: $50,000 for first ten to finish; $20,000 to winner.
Number of Entrants: 43.
Number of starters: 33. (Ten entrants eliminated by time trials prior to race, 33 fastest starting.)
Number of European cars: 13.
Number of European drivers: 9.
Area of Speedway: 328 acres.
Grand stands and boxes seat 60,000.

Grounds will easily accommodate 200,000.
Expected attendance: 100,000.
Track measures 2 1/2 miles to the lap, is 60 feet wide, with four 2,000-foot turned banks 16 degrees.
Built in 1909 by Carl G. Fisher, James A. Allison, A. C. Newby and Frank H. Wheeler.

Prize money paid out since 1909: $275,000.
Estimated time required to run race: Approximately 5 1/2 hours.

Ringside Flashes

Ritchie Mitchell, who recently injured his left hand in a boxing bout, has recovered and is in training for his coming battle with Jimmy Hanlon, June 9th. A week later he is to meet either Benny Leonard, Jack Britton or Willie Jackson, at Milwaukee.

Johnny Kilbane and Joey Fox, English featherweight champion, are to mix in a six-round affair at the National League ball park, June 16. It will be an open air show.

Frankie Mason, of Fort Wayne, and Carl Tremaine, of Detroit, are match in the semi-windup to the Willard - Dempsey championship battle July 4th. Mason is the world's flyweight champion, while Tremaine is the Canadian title holder. The privilege of appearing on the same card with the big men of the ring is quite a distinction. They will go 12 rounds. This is but one of several fast bouts being arranged for the preliminaries to the stellar event.

INDEPENDENTS TO PLAY ROCKFORD, ILL., BALL TEAM THREE FAST GAMES

Real baseball weather is the outlook for the ensuing three holidays, and fans can sit in grand stand or bleachers at Murphy street ball park, with a pop bottle in one hand and their hat in the other one and get the essence of the exhilaration.

For the Maroons are coming. They are the sort of ball players who have beaten everything around their home town and go out to the highways and byways, and come home laden with victorious scalps.

However, they are going to run afoul of a sturdy team when they clash with the Independents at the ball park today, tomorrow and Sunday. The management has perfected a line-up that will be hard to beat. Costello has arrived in town groomed to the minute for the center garden job, and the profit of the past two games has been most advantageous to the balance of the local nine.

All of the Rockford, Illinois, team are former college and professional ball players of prominence, and they represent their city, traveling through Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, etc. They ventured far afield when they signed with Lima, and they are going to find opposition of a high order here.

The ball park is in the best condition it has seen this year. The soft spots have disappeared during the several days of hot sunshine, and the auto parking space is dry and firm.

A record crowd is anticipated for all three days. The first game is called for three o'clock Decoration Day. The line-up for each time, in its batting order follows:

RUTH, GOOD WHEN HE'S RIGHT, SHOWS WORTH WHEN HE ISN'T

By N. E. BROWN

Babe Ruth at his best is some hurler. Guess we're all agreed on that. The subject of this little discussion is the fact that Babe Ruth at his worst is still a star.

I dropped out to a game the other day when Ruth started against the Cleveland Indians. The Indians won the game 12 to 7.

The Indians had been going good for a week or so and were all set for Babe. Evidently the fans were, too. They showed poor sportsmanship by booing Babe the minute he trotted onto the field—it had been announced that Babe would hurl.

Babe ignored the boos and warmed up. When Garney led off by drawing a pass the booing sounded like distant thunder. When Wood walked a little later, filling the bases, the booing was doubled. Before the round ended Babe forced in a run by walking Wamby and the fans' delight was plain. They roared at Babe as he walked to a bench.

But they wasted their time. As far as Ruth was concerned, they might just as well have saved their energy.

The Indians nipped Babe for two runs in the second—a pass, single and double turning the trick. The crowd rode the Red Sox southpaw worse than ever. But Babe walked back to the bench as unconcerned as ever and he was ready to go back to the box for more booing the next round as far as he was concerned. But Barrow decided to yank him.

The average pitcher, knocked from the box, would have quit in disgust, but Ruth walked up to Manager Barrow and said, "Will I go to left?" Barrow nodded his head and the big center jogged out to the garden to continue the game. The left field fans handed him the raspberry for fair—in vain. His work in the field was O. K. and he scored a run on the offensive before the game ended.

The fact that both clubs slammed a total of six pitchers for twenty-six hits indicates that they had gone wild and that all pitchers looked alike to them.

The unjustness of the attack on Ruth was shown by the fact that none of the other hurlers was booed. It was indicated, also, by the fact that they did not hoot at Morton when he allowed the Red Sox to overcome a three-run lead in the third inning by lambasting him for three runs—this despite perfect support which Ruth did not have.

Ruth showed himself to be much bigger than the fans by confining his energies to playing the game. Having failed to deliver in one department he was ready to put his strength into another angle of the game—hoping that he might help slip over a victory with his bat, although he failed to look his arm.

To my mind, Babe looked as good at his worst as he does at his best. He's some ball player all the time.

RED SOX CHANGES ARE PLANNED

By H. C. Hamilton

NEW YORK—There are vague rumors that something is about to happen among the Boston Red Sox. The very unsatisfactory showing made this spring by the team which was picked by many to run away with the American League pennant is causing concern to Ed Barrow, manager, and Harry Frazee, president of the club.

Those whispers which have been wafted around baseball men say that Bobbie Roth, outfielder for the Athletics and captain of the club, is about to be traded to Boston for Jack Barry, some other changes also being mentioned. Roth, it is said, has disappointed Connie Mack and Barrow has kept Barry on the bench most of the time to give Dave Shean the second base job.

Barrow has been badly in need of a right-handed outfielder. Every fly chaser performing in the garden for the world's champions swings from the left hand side of the plate, with the sole exception of Del Gainer, who plays infrequently. And Gainer can hardly be classed as an outfielder.

Ed Barrow knows far too much of baseball to continue as the club is going now. If the dope as presented here doesn't turn out it only means that the deal has been abandoned and that another roll of the dice will be tried.

The Yankees are after an outfielder, who can adequately fill the role of lead-off man. They have an excellent young outfielder in Sam Vick and also own a surplus of pitching talent. Something might happen between the Yankees and Red Sox.

RAINBOW DIVISION BAND MAY GIVE CONCERT HERE

A letter was received here a short time ago by the Lima Lodge Elk's from Major Koeppe, manager of the Rainbow Division Band, asking for a date on which the band could play in Lima. At the regular weekly lodge meeting Thursday a committee was appointed to meet with Maj. Koeppe when he arrives in Lima in a few days for a conference concerning the engagement.

The committee appointed were Ballis Simpson, J. W. Beall Sr. and Charles Hiatt. Koeppe states in the letter that the band is drawing big crowds wherever it plays. They are featuring French clarions, a tenor soloist and a chaplain who was with the Rainbow Division during its eighteen months' stay in France. No date has been announced when the band wishes to come here but that will likely be decided during Maj. Koeppe's visit.

DOCTOR ADVISED LITTLE INVALID TAKE NERV-WORTH

The Trouble Began When 8-Year-old Clifton Boy Fell and Crushed Arm.

Parents of small sufferers from nervous distresses will do well to weigh this clear proof of Nerv-Worth's remarkable power. It was given a few days ago by Mrs. L. F. Clifton of 1134 Central avenue, Zanesville, Ohio:

Fogge's Drug Store—My little 8-year-old son fell from an apple tree and his left arm was badly crushed. The shock was severe and left him in a very nervous condition and his appetite was poor. The attending doctor advised me to give him Nerv-Worth and I noticed an improvement from the start. Now, after he has taken three bottles, his nervousness has entirely disappeared and his digestion is as good as new. Nerv-Worth is surely fine for nervous stomach troubles and I heartily recommend it.

NEW STUNT TRIED BY GREAT MOVIE MAKER IN METROP

Griffith Sandwiches Production With Dances and Stage Novelties.

Other News of Interest From Sunny Side of New York.

(BY DIXIE HINES.)

NEW YORK.—In seeking novelties to satiate the voracious appetite of amusement lovers in the Metropolis, a brand new idea has been developed by D. W. Griffith, the noted cinema producer. It is a regular season of "repertoire" film productions, sandwiched with dances and other stage novelties.

One of the leading Broadway theatres has been secured for the experiment, and the season will begin in a fortnight. A long play will be produced, preceded and followed by variety novelties.

Producers in the so-called "legitimate" profess to believe this to be a sign of declining interest in the movies, while the movie men assert that it is an extension of their activities.

In the meanwhile the new act is raising a hub with the price of soda water and underwear.

Eda von Buelow, the handsome and stately ma'ron in "The Great Lady" is a daughter of Texas. Her stage career has been in drama and she was co-starring in her picture engagement in a musical play, but Miss von Buelow is none the less Southern.

"In Paris," a friend observed to Miss von Buelow, "the women have taken the places occupied by men in the street cars."

Miss von Buelow smiled benignly. "Down in Texas," she replied, "women have always taken the places occupied by men. Only the men stand."

Pity the life of the poor music teacher!

Ethel Newcombe, one of the most noted concert pianists in the international concert field, is an American, and since the war has been in this country concertizing and devoting a limited time to teaching.

"I want you to hear my daughter sing," insisted a doting parent, although Miss Newcombe is an instrumentalist. "Now what do you think of her range?"

"Dangerous," I should say, for at least three miles," she answered.

Whitford Kane the Irish actor recently turned playwright, and David Belasco produced with great success his first effort, "Dark Rosalind." The play is a comedy of Irish life, and one of the most amusing produced this season. When it was over the author sought rest at Atlantic City and approached a salesman in a well known furnishing store.

"I want a light overcoat, I am going to the seashore," the playwright-actor announced. The Clerk recognized him immediately as the Irish actor.

"I don't suppose you would consider an ulster, would you?" he observed in a jesting mood.

"And why wouldn't I consider an ulster?" Mr. Kane replied, "seeing as how I am an Ulsterite?"

Which perhaps accounts for the success he achieved in reading the conflicting South and North Irishmen in his play into a harmonious combination without loss of life on either side.

Candor is a commendable attribute at times, but there is one stage director in New York who thinks it may be carried too far.

Charles Compton, the leading man of "Oh, Boy" has given the story circulation.

"It was while our director was trying to break in a new chorus girl. She was the dullest on record, and the director was sorely tried."

"I should think you would get tired of having me tell you over and over again to do it this way," he finally said in exasperation.

"The girl transferred her gum to the other side and quietly replied: 'I do.'"

Bertha Mann, who is to appear shortly in a new play under the management of George Broadhurst, is one of the really brilliant actresses from whom much is expected. She and pleasure in owning a lot now and raise vegetables on it at present, but the best thing to be raised on it is THE PRICE which in a few years will be double what you pay for it now. Just think of a fine large lot for $250.00. CLOSE TO PUBLIC SQUARE. You wish you had bought a lot on West street between Market and North street a few years ago, don't you? Now here is your chance again to buy a lot near West street and Robb avenue for $250.00 that will soon be worth $500.00. If you don't buy you will not make the profit. Lots are selling fast in the Ashwood. Addition at these prices. Come out today, Saturday or Sunday afternoon and look at them. Take N. Main St. car to Robb Ave., walk west 2 squares to office. Liberty bonds taken at par on lots. Office open from 2 to 6 P. M.

RECONSTRUCTING IN AMERICA IS IN FULL SWING
 Every State Taking Hand in Back to Peace Business Movement

WASHINGTON.— Reconstruction movements, now in full swing in every state, cover every conceivable angle of the problem of getting the nation back into peace time form, according to a survey begun soon after the armistice by the National Council for Defense.

Governors, mayors, state legislatures, churches, boy scouts, chambers of commerce, volunteer workers and civic bodies are co-operating in plans to insure a square deal for demobilized soldiers and get the factories humming again.

No state failed to figure in the survey. Alaska, too, is helping, by offering to place 3,000 demobilized soldiers in jobs as teachers, clerks and watchmen.

A great mass of information that fills yards of filling cabinets piled ceiling high has been collected by the defense council describing the state projects. Collected and edited for early publication, the information for some states fills hundreds of pages.

SOLDIERS ON FARMS.
 Most projects aim at getting soldiers on the land as farmers and helpers.

For this work the Colorado legislature appropriated $725,000, to be spread over a period of 20 years. The money will be administered by a board which was given $25,000 to spend in assisting soldiers to take advantage of the offer during the first two years. Similar appropriations now being considered by legislatures of other states.

An appropriation of $5,000,000 is provided for loans to demobilized soldiers in a bill introduced into the Iowa legislature. Under the bill no soldier could borrow more than $2,000 and special provision was made to encourage married soldiers to take advantage of the offer. Reasonable time and terms are provided for return of the funds.

Denver is one of several cities now in the midst of campaigns to "own-your-own-home" and help reopening of building activities.

One form of reconstruction work connected with Americanization projects is exemplified in New Bedford, Mass., where cotton millers organized to teach English to all foreign born residents. Boy scouts are planning to help.

Michigan and Ohio were among the first of the many states that called reconstruction congresses. Women are represented equally with men on a reconstruction board appointed by the governor of Michigan.

COX STOLE MOVE
 Governor Cox stole a move on Ohio's congress by personal letters to 165 mayors, asking their help in creating a $1,000,000 fund to public works to give work to the unemployed.

Twenty-five Ohio cities now have Americanization programs. Job canvassing for returning doughboys was begun early in New York city where merchants associations combined to canvass all manufacturers and list openings. Oregon's legislature, as one of many after-the-war measures, passed a bill prohibiting the use, not only in public, but in private schools as well, of any language except English in general instruction. The bill, however, is not intended to prevent the teaching of any needed foreign language.

Pennsylvania's legislature appropriated $50,000,000 for road building to make work for unemployed. Erie, Pa., undertook a building stimulation campaign and in Philadelphia a poster movement was begun to warn against selling of War Savings Stamps below their face value. Brokers, it was found, were encouraging such sales.

The Memphis, Tenn. Chamber of Commerce voted $1,800 to be used in a campaign to get jobs for soldiers.

Texas, among many other reconstruction movements, initiated one intended to "get the children back to school."

U. S. WAR MILL STILL GRINDING
 Vast Stores Being Turned Out Regardless of Conflicts End

WASHINGTON.— America is finding it almost as difficult to stop her war preparation as it was to start it.

The War Department at present is accepting huge quantities of war material. Though most of it will not be needed in the near future, unless someone starts a new war, the army has found it cheaper to finish much of the work already begun when the armistice was signed than to abandon it.

Some of the items accepted since the armistice are 976 57-millimeter guns (the famous French 75) with 5,507,000 rounds of high explosive and 2,751,000 rounds of shrapnel for them; 804 6-ton tanks (light Whippet type), 247 155-millimeter guns with 414,000 high explosive shells for them; 41,000 Browning automatic rifles; 30,000 Browning machine guns; 118,000,000 pounds of smokeless powder; 2,417 5-ton tractors for hauling heavy artillery; 124,000,000 pistol and 570,000,000 rifle cartridges; 666,000 tin hats; 56 8-inch howitzers 347,000 model 1917 rifles (modified Enfields); 115,000 automatic pistols; 12,000,000 pounds T. N. T. and 25,000,000 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

In the case of tanks and 75-millimeter guns, over 90 per cent of the total production was completed after the armistice. The largest percentage of any ordnance item to be delivered after the armistice was in the case of 155-millimeter recoil apparatus. Of these, $80 of a total of 381 were delivered after Nov. 11.

All the items mentioned, of which a considerable proportion represents after-the-war delivery, required long preparation before manufacture could be begun. Besides constituting a valuable reserve for another war, the War Department pointed out, the material would be a total waste if it were not finished.

U. S. PAYS HONOR TO HEROIC DEAD
 Ceremonies Befitting Memorial for Supreme Sacrifices Are Held

WASHINGTON.— America Friday bowed in solemn tribute to its heroic dead.

In the house of congress, at the tomb of the Union dead in Arlington cemetery, at some of the shipyards and in every city, town and hamlet of the nation, there were ceremonies befitting a memorial for the supreme sacrifice of the country's sons.

Cabinet members in Washington paid earnest tribute to heroes of the great war.

"With a significance deepened by fresh sorrows, but consecrated by the knowledge of what the loss of so many of the best of young American manhood has won for the world, Memorial Day this year brings to the nation a full realization of the price paid to rid the world of autocracy," said Secretary Daniels.

"At the same time, it brings especially to those whose dear ones paid the supreme price, a proud knowledge that America took her rightful place in the world events of the past year with all her mighty power and resources and that our gallant boys had such a decisive part in shattering the Hohenzollern dream of world dominion."

Secretary Baker said: "The spiritual progress of America is shown by our addition of fresh glory to this day set apart to memorialize the nation's heroic dead. There is no division of its ancient significance, but fresh meaning is added by those who have died on foreign soil to perpetuate the liberties for which their ancestors gave their lives at home."

Acting Secretary of State Polk said: "The people may well pause today and pay their meed of tribute to the nation's dead."

Secretary Baker said: "The spiritual progress of America is shown by our addition of fresh glory to this day set apart to memorialize the nation's heroic dead. There is no division of its ancient significance, but fresh meaning is added by those who have died on foreign soil to perpetuate the liberties for which their ancestors gave their lives at home."

Acting Secretary of State Polk said: "The people may well pause today and pay their meed of tribute to the nation's dead."

ARE YOU GOING?
 All things come to those who get tired of waiting and go after them. And blessed is the man who hustles while he waits. Fortunate is he who wakes up in time, before his joints become creaky and his pace so slow that the only thing he can race with is his own shadow. Don't let yourself get into the "Might-have-been" class. Spruce up and put aside part of your earnings. Others are doing it. Don't stay in the back seat. Your money deposited with The Allen County Savings & Loan Company will increase your income by earning five per cent interest. And the Company makes loans only upon real estate mortgages, providing the very best security.

The War Department has terminated by cancellation since November 9 all but $350,000,000 worth of contracts originally totaling $5,650,000,000. Ordnance material represents the largest single part of the remaining contracts—$138,975,000.

"You are the sunshine of my life."
"Oh, Jack!"
"You reign alone in my heart."
"Darling!"
"With you at my side I could weather any storm."
"Excuse me Jack, but is this a weather report or a proposal?"

Where the carefully trained child learns bad manners is a standing mystery to its watchful parents. These anxious rearers of the young are often heard propounding this query, but generally without result. Once in a while, however, out of the deep silence comes an illuminating answer.

Johnny furnished one just the other day. He had just finished a particularly toothsome dish of apple pudding which he ate to the last morsel. Then despite the fact that there was company at the table, he deliberately picked up his saucer and licked it clean.

"Johnny!" exclaimed his mother after a horrified gasp. "Who did you ever see do a thing like that?"
"Dogs," replied Johnny.

"Seasickness," said Lieut. Snyder Harrison, the novelist, "is a dreadful thing. It will unman even the doughboy."

"A doughboy on a transport bound for France was seasick. His corporal, to get him out on deck in the fresh air, roused him from his seasick stupor one morning and said:

"Come on, Jack! Up with you! We've been torpedoed and the ship'll sink in ten minutes."

"Ten minutes?" groaned the doughboy. Then he added, with a great gulp:

"Can't you hurry her on a bit, Corp?"

TRAFFIC CRUSADE LAST NIGHT RESULTS IN EIGHT ARRESTS BY THE POLICE

A traffic crusade over night resulted in the arrest of a total of eight arrests for alleged violations. With the exception of a few who were unable to furnish bond, all were released under a charge to return Saturday to face Judge Botkin in police court.

A motor cop stationed at Market and Elizabeth street picked up one half of the violators when they attempted to "cut" the corner it is alleged. South Pine street was chosen it is charged, by two as a motor speedway and their arrest followed. Other charges are operating a machine without a head light or tail light and with license tags of former years.

Those who were taken last night are: T. J. Clevenger, Vaughnsville; George McDonnell, 419 south Cole street; L. C. Thornbury, 716 east Kibby street; Lee Baher, Toledo, released; Paul Early, 1008 east North street; R. K. Clark, 749 west Spring street; Alden Speic, 815 Albert street; Forest Dolin, farmer.

CASE IN WHICH GAMBLING IS CHARGED WILL START IN COMMON PLEAS MONDAY

Trial of the case of Toney Zender and Anderson K. Vail, indicated by the April grand jury on a charge of running a gambling house, will be started Monday in common pleas court. The indictment of the grand jury is the outcome of the suit of Chris High, Rockford, who sued Zender, Vail and one other for damages in the sum of $500 and seeks to recover $600 which he claims he lost in gambling at the Uhlman Hotel, which is managed by Vail.

There have been about twenty subpoenas issued for the trial. No doubt the trial will be of the widest interest of any heard in the Allen County courts for some time, most of the men concerned being well known in Lima circles.

TWO WOMEN ENGAGE IN BATTLE IN STREET CAR

When Mary Shultz, 29, domestic, and Grace Mead, 28, domestic, both colored, 1318 west Spring street, indulged in a late night fist encounter on a west Market street car, it is alleged, police interfered. Charges of disorderly conduct were placed against them at police headquarters.

They were released on $25 bond each to appear Saturday morning. Passengers witnessed a contest when coats and hats were discarded and a hair-pulling match ensued, police say.

A Tinscup of Vinegar set on back of the stove and kept boiling while onions and cabbage are cooking, will prevent the smell from coming through the house.

Credit is the Backbone of Modern Commerce

There is scarcely any retail store in the United States that is not selling furniture on credit. Less than 5% of the people in this country pay cash for their furniture, and when you ask for credit at any store, you are only doing that which 95% of all the people do. Credit is not to be frowned upon, but accepted as a modern convenience and we are glad to have you avail yourself of same. Do not hesitate at any time to take advantage of our credit system.

WHEN help is so scarce and so high-priced, to glide a Hoover one's self is an economical solution of the cleaning problem. Without its seeming to be work, the carpets are thoroughly beaten, swept and suction cleaned, crushed nap is straightened and colorings given new life—all in a brief interval.

The HOOVER
ELECTRIC SUCTION SWEEPER

Only The Hoover, however beats and sweeps besides vacuum cleaning. Its patented Beating-Sweeping features are the reason. So superior is The Hoover that it far outsells all others and its makers have become the world's largest. We invite you to a demonstration.
